PROFILE

I am Zaroon Kaleem, a professional Angular and .NET Developer and a proficient MEAN stack developer. My areas of specialization are strong and scalable web applications using Angular, .NET, Node.js, Express, MongoDB, and SQL. I am also good at developing interoperable solutions for dynamic web platforms and enterprise apps. Presently pursuing my degree at the University of Engineering and Technology Lahore, I have hands-on experience in developing ecommerce platforms, management systems, and interactive dashboards. As a freelancer, I develop custom web applications, integrate APIs, and design client-focused interfaces. I am passionate about delivering innovative, effective, and client-centered solutions to satisfy varied business requirements.
